

Coastal Forestry in Action

Campbell River, Vancouver Island

Teacher Professional Development Event

Unique Pro-D experience for teachers - A FREE four day Forest Sector tour through BC's forests.

July 11 - 13, 2012

We are heading back to Vancouver Island for another summer adventure for teachers, on tour 'Coastal Forestry in Action'. Twenty selected teachers will descend onto the beautiful resource community of Campbell River for three action-packed days of dialogue and field site visits.

We will explore the various species that make up BC's coastal forests and examine the habitat, management, disease control and forest products associated with these forests.

How can you bring geography, social studies and science to life in your classroom? Bring the forest back to your classroom! Our three day tour will provide teachers of all levels and subject areas with curriculum-based, hands-on teaching ideas.

There will be opportunities to talk with various resource experts and professionals along the way, including biologists, foresters, government officials, First Nations representatives and others. Each day will have a tailored social evening event featuring engaging presentations and discussion. Best of all—the entire experience is absolutely FREE!

It's about much more than trees; a wide range of values are identified and considered within our forests as we experience this three day adventure in mid-Vancouver Island. ☺

Who is the Festival of Forestry?

The BC Festival of Forestry is a non-profit organization committed to providing quality professional development experiences for school teachers.

For over 40 years we have run tours for Lower Mainland and Victoria area teachers to rural communities in BC. The tours provide an interactive learning experience to enhance teachers' understanding of the complexities of sustainable forest management issues, and methods to integrate information into their classes.

Teachers have the opportunity to immerse themselves in a resource-based community and interact with the people most connected to resource issues.

Our tours include walks in various forest ecosystems, visits to active forest management areas, protected areas, and tours of processing facilities. Presenters on each tour represent a wide range of interest areas providing a clear balance of perspectives.

Tours include tree identification, wildlife habitat issues, water quality and other riparian considerations in forest management, soil characteristics, ecosystem management, conservation and preservation of sensitive and special areas of the forest, as well as the social and economic values we gain from the forest.

Wild Island Tour

“It was an awesome experience for me. I’ve learned so many things about forestry in Canada. The information that I got from the many presenters and staff was great. I’m ready to teach my students about forestry in Canada with resources and samples. It was great to meet the professionals and experts and have discussions about our concerns with them. After I learned about this, I feel so proud to be Canadian. Thank you so much for giving us this opportunity.”

“I really enjoyed the passion of the forestry community and this tour really helped showcase the story of forestry. The people were all knowledgeable and professional, but very personal and sincere too. A lot of us are passionate about this topic now and I hope to see forestry incorporated into the curriculum.”

The Beetles and Fire Tour

“Very well paced and organized. Professionals went out of their way for us. All manner of debate was encouraged and all questions were answered clearly and forthrightly. Good material for lesson plans was appreciated. The whole tour was very collegial and excellent.”

The 100 Mile Tour

“This tour was an incredible learning experience for me. Coming from the city, I never realized all that went on to bring me my wood and paper. It was fascinating to learn about the pine beetle infestation and to understand the effects that this is having on the whole industry in the interior. I will definitely use this new learning in my classroom and a general appreciation for the forestry industry.”

“This tour was a great chance to go beyond the textbook and see first hand the realities of the forest industry. I liked learning about how the industry influences communities. This is directly related to curriculum and I recommend it to any teacher.”
